WHO SHOULD ATTEND

All litigators who draft settlement agreements, waivers, releases and other contracts as part of their litigation practice should attend this course.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Why should litigators study contract drafting? Our profession has a tendency to draw a distinction between litigation and transactional law; however, most cases are settled outside of court and settlement usually entails a settlement agreement, which is a contract. In fact, settlement agreements are particularly dangerous drafting projects because the parties are litigious when the drafting begins. Will the terms of the settlement agreements you draft stand the test of a challenge? Take the necessary step to hone your contract drafting skills in this convenient, highly practical webinar. In just 90 minutes, experienced transactional lawyer and noted contract drafting instructor Lenne' Espenschied will show you:

- how drafting differs from legal writing;
- why you need to “draft” differently than you “write”;
- how to avoid all too common drafting errors that cause ambiguity;
- which words to use and which words to refuse;
- how to frame terms of obligation; and
- much more!

SCHEDULE (Eastern)

12:00 pm - 1:30 pm

Praise from past program attendees:

- “Real examples of drafting errors and examples of corrections; articulate and thoughtful presentation.”
- “Very practical and usable advice. Many seminars are not helpful to in-house counsel. This one is. Thanks for offering it.”
- “Very informative. A lot of knowledge and detail that will prove useful in day to day drafting.”
- “Excellent seminar and teacher! I will look at agreements differently going forward.”
- “Really excellent CLE! Informative, useful, well organized and well presented.”
